The state disclosing the highest percentage of its income diverted to the support of government in the form of taxes is New York with 17.2 . New York State contributed in 1919 one-eighth of the total income and excess profits taxes collected by the Federal Government. As stated elsewhere, however, federal tax payments in any state do not necessarily emanate from the income of the citizens of that state, and hence the burden is somewhat exaggerated. The same conclusion applies with equal or greater force to the state of Delaware, where federal tax collections are swelled by the fact that a large number of corporations operate under Delaware charters and file income tax returns from that state, although the business is conducted mostly in other commonwealths. Texas shows the lowest ratio of total taxes paid to income, namely 7.4 . In the vast majority of...
